WHY SHOULD I SUPPORT YOUR CHARITY'S WORK..... 12

WHY YOUR GIFT MATTERS..... 14

This year the list of crises never ends, both here and around the world.

- Wildfires in the West.
- Hurricanes in Haiti and Louisiana.
- Floods in New York City.
- Famine in Ethiopia.
- A continuing pandemic that has killed 700,000+ Americans.

At the same time, the other needs don't go away: homeless families, inequality, diseases without cures, vets struggling with disabilities, wildlife struggling to survive.

It can be overwhelming. What can you do? How do you decide who to help? Three ideas, each explored on page 14:

1. No matter how much you give, it makes a difference. It adds up. Most of the $471 billion Americans give away still comes from non-wealthy donors.
2. Through your support, charities have done amazing things. They've helped us understand and begin to address climate change that has contributed to many of today's crises. They helped spur research on and find cures to once incurable diseases. They've helped the homeless, hungry children, abused animals and much more.
3. Plan your giving. As humans, we have to respond to crises when we can. But we also need to take a minute to think through our giving.

One excellent way to think through your giving is taking advantage of a workplace campaign, like the Combined Federal Campaign. Through the CFC, you can think through your giving once a year, supporting many charities by having a little deducted from each paycheck.

Every charity in the "CFC"—and every charity in this guide—has met the campaign's accountability standards, such as having an audit. And whatever you care about, you can find a CFC charity that is responding. To give, go to CFCgiving.opm.gov.

If you're not a federal or military employee, you can give to these charities directly, through their websites. At CharityChoices.com, you'll find a link to each charity's giving page. None of your donation goes to the sponsors of this guide. You'll also find in-depth information about every charity in this guide, as well as dozens of others.

Whichever causes you choose to support, please give as generously as you can. Thank you.

How to feed 100 children a day for $28

"Our doctors found Princess lying on the floor of a group hospital room in Lwiro, DR Congo," explains Kristy Scott, director of Childrens Food Fund/World Emergency Relief (CFF/WER). "She was severely malnourished, so weak she could barely stand."

"It's incredibly rewarding to know you've made a difference."

The doctors immediately admitted 7-year-old Princess to the hospital to receive IV fluids and therapeutic milk – the first life-saving step in CFF/WER's malnutrition program. Princess was so tiny she fit in a baby's bed in the ICU.

After two months of milk, medicine and treatments for ailments including TB, Princess entered into CFF/WER's malnutrition program. It arranged for Momma Flo, a friend who lives near the hospital, to care for Princess for six months – nursing her back to the now healthy, happy 8-year old girl she is today. Princess now lives with her mother and 10 siblings, attending school for the first time.

Princess is just one of the estimated five million malnourished children in DR Congo who are also at high risk of contracting malaria, tuberculosis, cholera and the measles.

"The extraordinary scale of suffering in this country is horrifying," Scott says. "Violence, hunger and disease are ever present. It breaks my heart that we can't save all the children."

But CFF/WER (CFC #10984) does what it can, working with local partners in Lwiro and Kaziba to provide enough food to feed 100 children at a cost of just $28 a day.

This is how CFF/WER works across Africa and Asia, using trustworthy partners as its everyday "boots on the ground" to help people in need, especially children. And CFF/WER provides not just food, but also life-saving medicine, water filters and agricultural supplies, with an overhead of just 4% of donated resources.

"I wish we had the means to do more," Scott says. "Seeing the impact of our efforts on children like Princess is what keeps me going. It can be heart-breaking work, but also incredibly rewarding to know you've made a difference."

Even in the most trying times, Autism Speaks advocates for military families like Sophia and Alivia's family

Revered political leader and activist Nelson Mandela once said: "The greatest glory in living lies not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall."

For Sarah, wife of an a United States Air Force Chaplain and mother of two girls with autism, no quote could better describe her family's journey over the last 13 years. It was only through their strong values that her family was able to withstand setbacks that would bring most to their knees.

Although their autism affects them differently, sisters Alivia, 13, and Sophia, 8, share similar stories of overcoming adversity to reach milestones that many specialists never thought they would.

"Sophia has faced challenges and obstacles from birth but has continued to overcome," Sarah explains. "She was unable to walk and barely able to eat until her second birthday. She didn't say her first word (momma) until she was four.

"But with two years of intense early intervention and full-time ABA therapy in a clinical setting, Sophia's vocabulary is amazing, she has friends, loves ballet and even plays soccer!" (ABA is a therapy based on the science of learning and behavior.)

"Alivia had a neonatal stroke, which caused her to have many medical issues throughout childhood. At first, her autism was masked by her medical condition, but she was diagnosed around her second birthday. She didn't speak until she was six, but now talks and reads thanks to intense therapies."

Sarah's husband, Tamer, is an active duty service member. His career has caused his family to move several times over the years, but she says the military has gone above and beyond to make sure her girls have everything they need to thrive no matter where they're stationed.

"With two years of intense early intervention and full-time ABA therapy in a clinical setting, Sophia's vocabulary is amazing, she has friends, loves ballet and even plays soccer!"

"All branches of the military have a designated program for special needs families. Among many other services, we receive 40 hours a month of respite care and in-home ABA therapy for both girls. We are proud to be a part of the military family."

Even in the most trying times, Autism Speaks (CFC #12413) continues to advocate for families like Sarah and Tamer's to provide vital resources, round-the-clock support and hope for the entire autism community.

It is dedicated to promoting solutions for the needs of all individuals with autism and their families.

How much do Americans give?

In 2020, despite the pandemic and economic downturn, giving went up nearly 4%, to $471 billion. Individuals gave more than two thirds of this total (68.8%). The rest came from foundations, corporations and bequests.

However, the percentage of people who give at all has been declining. It was 66% of all households in 2000. It was under 50% (49.6%) in 2018. Part of it is fewer people attending and supporting churches.
Part of it is people under 40 giving to charities at a much lower rate: about 33%.

This downward trend changed in 2020,
with the number of donors going up 7.3% from 2019. Most of this increase was driven by donors giving small amounts.

Cancer Prevention and Treatment Fund

We're here for you with hope and help

We conduct research that helps kids and adults prevent cancer and choose the best treatments. We are fighting to lower the outrageous prices for cancer drugs, because everyone deserves treatments that work. You can trust us because we don't accept donations from companies that sell cancer treatments. 100% of your donation goes to research and to help prevent and treat cancer, 0% for flashy fundraising. Let's fight cancer together!

National Association of American Veterans

Serving Veterans with Honor and Respect

As America leaves Afghanistan and Iraq, these countries will never leave many veterans who fought there. More than two in five have a disability. One in five struggles with PTSD or major depression. Many more veterans commit suicide than are killed in action (893 vs. 37 in 2016). NAAV's volunteers provide basic help to these veterans: someone to talk to, help when rent or a utility bill is overdue, help navigating the VA bureaucracy. With an overhead of just 5.3%, your support goes directly to help vets and their families.

Support Our Aging Religious – SOAR!

*They were there for us.
Now it's our turn to give.*

Sisters, Brothers and religious order Priests—who have given their lives to the Church and its work—are facing a crisis. Many worked for only modest stipends. As their median age rises, their communities have little for retirement. Healthcare costs have soared. In response, SOAR! awards grants to congregations of Catholic Sisters, Brothers and Priests to care for their retired members. Your donation addresses their immediate needs and ensures their safety, comfort and dignity. Please help.

We support innovative research to find a cure as well as to improve people's everyday lives. 100% of your gift supports:

- Basic research to regenerate nerve fibers.
- Studies of how to lessen the many effects of spinal cord injuries and disease.
- Design and development of technology that allows people to do more, such as adaptive canoe seats.
- Fellowships to get scientists, clinicians and engineers to focus on spinal cord injuries.

Diabetes Research Institute Foundation

We have one goal – to find a cure for diabetes.

As one of the largest, most comprehensive research centers dedicated to curing diabetes, we aim to overcome the challenges of the immune system and restore natural insulin production in children and adults living with this disease. We collaborate with an international network of experts to share knowledge and diversify skills in a waste-no-time approach. For the millions of families affected by diabetes, the Diabetes Research Institute Foundation is the best hope for a cure.

Marine Corps – Law Enforcement Foundation

Educating the children of those who sacrificed all

MCLEF awards $35,000 to every child of a fallen US Marine or Federal Law Enforcement Agent. In addition to this monetary support, the families know that their loved one's sacrifice is not forgotten and is sincerely appreciated. MCLEF has awarded over $79 million to over 4,300 recipients since 1995—more than $3 million to 142 recipients in 2019 alone. We have one part-time employee with volunteers doing the rest.

"A Place Like Home"

The Children's Inn is a place families can stay as their sick child participates in pediatric research at the National Institutes of Health. Our donors provide housing and supportive services, like nightly dinners, at no cost to families.

With your support, we are making childhood possible for the over 1,700 children who stay at The Inn each year, as they search for answers to their tough, and sometimes rare, medical conditions.

Wycliffe Bible Translators

Sharing hope through Bible translation

The hope found in the Bible is needed now more than ever. Yet 2,000 languages lack these words that tell of God's love. Wycliffe is an international Christian ministry that translates God's Word and teaches literacy.

In Nigeria, a woman named Martha received audio Scripture in her own language. "Those words make sense to me; they sink in," Martha said. She discovered Christ through Scripture. Help bring life transformation to many more worldwide!

Mary House

Families in Ministry To Families

Our safe haven provides sanctuary to immigrant and refugee families, allowing them to reclaim their dignity and move forward. Mary House provides shelter, transitional housing, food, education and support services to 60 families. We rely completely on private donations. Whether ten dollars or ten thousand dollars, each donation helps provide a safety net for families facing isolation. We have no salaried staff, relying on five full-time volunteers, who receive room, board, health insurance and a nominal monthly stipend.

Why it's so important to continue giving what we can

Wildfires. Floods. Hurricanes. Famines. An ongoing pandemic. It can be overwhelming. "Donor fatigue" is what fundraisers call it.

Fortunately, despite great trepidation among charities, donors responded in 2020. Giving by Americans went up to its highest level ever, as a proportion of the overall economy, to 2.3%. Total giving rose to $471 billion, a 3.8% increase after inflation.

The overall number of donors grew by 7.3%, driven mainly by donors giving relatively small amounts, according to a report that analyzes giving to nearly 2,500 charities.

Even the Combined Federal Campaign, which had been going down the past few years, went up in 2020.

- The lesson in these numbers is clear: no matter how much or how little you can give, it makes a difference. Giving by lots of individuals adds up. In the CFC, gifts by 108,000 individuals added up to more than $81.5 million for charities. Overall, nearly 70% of the $471 billion given to charity last year came from individuals (the rest came from foundations, corporations and bequests).

- This support has allowed charities to do amazing things. They've helped us understand and begin to address the climate crisis that has contributed to so many of today's crises.

They've helped us see and begin to respond to social injustice, with the support of many individuals. In 2020, 16% of Americans gave to racial or social justice, a big increase from 2019.

They've helped spur cures to once incurable diseases and provided support for individuals and families struggling with these diseases. This support has been invaluable through the pandemic, which has put huge stress on these families.

They've helped countless people survive and recover from crises in all parts of the world.

- Remember to support charities that aren't responding to the latest crises. No matter how bad the current crisis is, the other needs don't go away.

Families and individuals still find themselves homeless, a problem that has increased during the pandemic.

More than two in five veterans of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan still struggle with disabilities.

Nearly two dozen species of wildlife were just declared extinct, underscoring the need for charities working to protect wildlife.
